Judy Lipson

Judy Lipson is the founder of Celebration of Sisters, an annual ice-skating fundraiser to commemorate the lives and memories of her beloved sisters Margie and Jane to benefit Massachusetts General Hospital. Judy published articles for The Open to Hope Foundation, The Centering Organization, Grief Healing, and Love and Loss. Massachusetts General Hospital and SKATING Magazine featured numerous pieces on Judy's philanthropic work.

Meredith O'Brien

Boston area writer Meredith O'Brien is the author of four books, including a novel, a memoir, and an award-winning book about the Southborough middle school's charismatic band director. A former newspaper reporter, investigative journalist, and syndicated columnist, Meredith teaches journalism and writing at Northeastern University, and writing for Bay Path University's MFA in creative nonfiction program. Visit her web page, her Facebook page, and follow her on Twitter.

Charlee James

New England native Charlee James writes heartwarming contemporary romance and thrilling romantic suspense. James's Cape Cod Shore series from Tule Publishing is an Apple iBook U.S. and Amazon bestseller. She lives with her husband, daughters, three rambunctious dogs, a cat, and numerous reptiles. When she's not spending time with her tight-knit family, she enjoys curling up with a book and collecting Boston Terrier knick-knacks. Charlee is represented by Jana Hanson of the Metamorphosis Literary Agency.

Kathryn Marie

Kathryn Marie is a New Adult Fantasy & Romance author who began writing at the young age of thirteen, when she was stuck in bed recovering from spinal surgery. Ever since then, she's loved creating stories and characters for others to enjoy. When she is not at work or busy writing in her home office, Kathryn can be found spending time with her wonderful husband or friends, experimenting with new makeup techniques, or watching reruns of her many beloved TV shows.
